

Marky hits the big stage

In an effort worth publishing Marky Lekas (mandolin) from In Rare Form has left the band for bigger and brighter spotlight. He will be donating his Mandolin prowess to the greater Michigan area where he will be volunteering at Soup Kitchens and other non profit outfits.

In a comment our bull-shit report team had a few minutes to catch up with the man they call Marky.

RP-Marky, how are you feeling now that you've left the band for a bigger stage and good PR

M-Its amazing, those guys Erik and Tim) Have been ridding my cattails for years, I feel a sense of relief and now ready for my big stage.

RP- Marky your 11 minute Mandolin solo in the cover song "Tiny Dancer" has been one of my favorite live display's I've ever seen. Where did you get the courage to hit so many notes?

M-Elton John has always been a hero of such to me. I think it was "Croc idle Rock" that inspired me to pursue my music career.

RP-Mark, it seems that you were the only person in the band that had any social skills, Erik and Tim are flat out retards on the stage. You obviously felt that every time you played?

M-Obviously PR-Marky, we hear that you are the only on from IRF that has any kind of Athletic talent

M-I was schooling both Erik and Tim in Hoops for quite some time. Infect both of my grandma's have more athletic skill as Erik!

RP-Marky, we'd like you to bring back Ramble Back around.
M-Its always been my favorite and for sure the Soup Kitchen's.

Tim Miller Has Issue's with Ex-Rapper Now Faces Jail Time

AP-newswire

Tim Miller of the Band In Rare Form, has been court ordered by the state of California because of alleged confrontation with IRF's ex rapper ICE TREY.

According to Carlsbad police department, Tim had entered Ice trey's apartment complex complaining that the rapper had drank his last beer. With the intent to mane Tim took his phaser to ICE TREY's dogs to enter the building. It seems that Tim was motivated after an altercation with the former rapper regarding song credits. Tim believes that all the rights to Soul Tub should be his since he named the song in the first place.

This is a very serious investigation. We are looking to file criminal charges-Police Chief Bill Farmersezentaor Carlsbad Police

This is a story that will go down in history as thee biggest confrontation in IRF history.
